ELECTION STOPPED BY INJUNCTION ISSUED FROM THE DISTRICT COURT

Judge Emmet Walsh, sitting in the district court of the fifth judicial district, has decided that there cannot be an election in Nye county for a successor to the late Senator Stewart. This ruling will leave the seat vacant during the session.

The action appeared as a ruling on a demurrer to the application filed in the morning on which a temporary restraining order was issued directed to the county clerk and board of county commissioners enjoining them from proceeding with arrangements for holding the election as directed by the governor. The demurrer was overruled and injunction ordered to issue making permanent the temporary order of Judge Averill.

The decision was reached at 8 o'clock last night after arguments by Attorneys William Forman, Harry Atkinson and W. R. Gibson for the defendant and H. R. Cooke, Frank Pittman and Frank Dunn for the relator. In rendering an oral opinion the court said that the constitution could not be self-operative and that the laws of general election could not prevail. Referring to the recent
